THE LIVINGSTONIAN
1953

Foreword

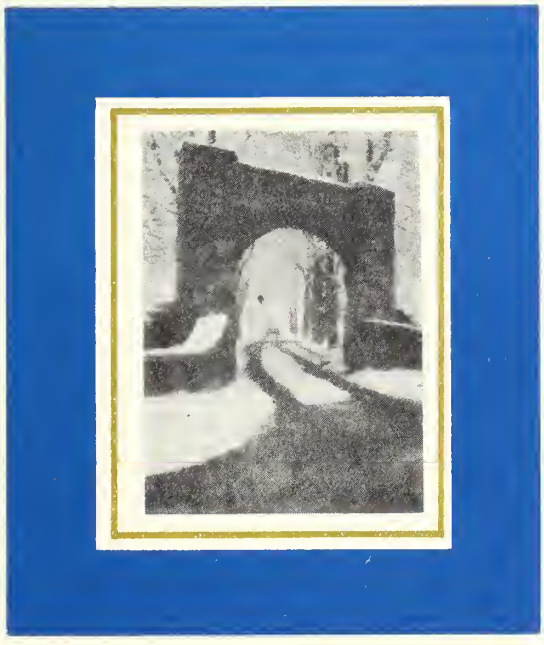
Tiny oak and maple seeds were we — planted by the loving hands of earnest and hardworking parents.

Afraid to near the surface of the earth because we did not know if we could equally accept the responsibilities of adulthood, we burrowed deeper into what was thought of as security. However, this security was false, and became "visible" in our various problems of maladjustment.

Even with sunlight, rain and proper nutrition, we began to wither and die, despite the fact that we knew our destiny was to be of might and strength.

But then came our Spring — and with it our awakening. Our buds began to blossom into the promising golden color which symbolizes progress.

And, with our awakening, we began to realize our importance as pillars of strength, and stopped to thank from the bottom of our newlyborn souls the sincere parents who gave us the privilege of the ultimate aim of education. We became grateful to the teachers who had fed us with the richest food of knowledge, heated us with rays of understanding and showered us with the rain of Christian principles.



So, since all strong forces leave their imprints on the sands of time as a guide, we the now mighty and victorious maples and oaks of 1953 — leave to you our imprints of progress as found in the pages of our annual, "The Livingstonian."

INGSTONE COLLEGE PROUDLY PRESENT

THE 1953

Livingstonian

My Livingstone

Oh, Livingstone, my Livingstone!
Thy dear old name we sing,
While mem'ries cluster thick and fast,
And closer to us cling.
Beneath thy maples and thy oaks
The zephyred breezes blow,
Just as they will in years to come,
No matter where we go.

Oh, Livingstone, my Livingstone!
When thou art old with age,
Perhaps thou too, shall hold a place
That's bright on mem'ry's page.
And in thy sky, no cloud shall be—
Instead, thy sun shall gleam,
Prosperity shall live always
Amid its golden beam.

Oh, Livingstone, my Livingstone!
Thy students come and go,
The moments fly, the years go by
With all their weal and woe.
Along with fleet and nimble feet
Oh, hasten on thy way,
And fling the light of wisdom out
Across the wand'rer's way.

Oh, Livingstone, my Livingstone!
Upon thy campus wide,
In numbers many students roam,
Some from the other side;
And still they love, we can but hope
That they may e'er be true
To both thy name and colors too,
The modest black and blue.

WORDS BY: W. F. Fonvielle

Rapidly wending its way toward nonentity and obscurity were we, the Class of '53. Then Freshman and Sophomores, we were standing at the brink of our destruction, alone, unable to fathom the light of progress. At that darkest moment, a hand reached down and snatched us up, brushed the dirt from our garments and set us on the golden road to success.

The flexible hand represented the elasticity of the personality of our rescuer. The arm of strength portrayed his innate power in reconstructing a mighty force from a weak smattering; the sturdy shoulders signified the capability of our rescuer to bear our burdens uncomplainingly and competently.

DEDICATED TO

MR. JOHN H. BROCKETT, JR.

One of the reasons for our deliverer's strength results from his educational training and experiences. Being a graduate of Livingstone College, obtaining a M. S. degree from the University of Pennsylvania, directing a city recreation center, serving as company commander with the rank of captain in the Pacific as well as holding the position of Administrative Dean at Palmer Memorial Institute, Sedalia, North Carolina, have all helped to forcibly mold the personality of the man who so willingly dispelled his strength of character to us.

Now, as the film is clearing from our eyes, we see ourselves as renewed and whole human beings who have sacrificed for a just cause, and have chosen the better means to an ultimate end. As we glimpse the golden road ahead, we gratefully thank our advisor and friend, and humbly dedicate "THE 1953 LIVINGSTONIAN" to Mr. John H. Brockett, Jr.

Our President — DR. WILLIAM J. TRENT

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

February 21, 1953

Dear Senior Class:

It has been a joy of ours to have had the members of the Class of 1953 to complate its work at Livingstone College. Your Class has made an excellent record in several fields. In your Junior year you broke the record of all classes in your contribution to Founder's Day, and you have broken it again this year. You have had a fine leader and Advisor in the person of Prof. J. H. Brockett, Jr. The college will follow you as you shall launch out on the broad Arena of life.

Yours very truly,

W. J. Trent

These noble men and women might well be called the missionaries of education because they have taken it upon themselves to lift up the floodgates of knowledge and bathe us thoroughly in learning — leaving us to bask in the rays of understanding. They have learned and understood, and yet they always share with us the fruits of their labors — unselfishly and unerringly.

Class History

THE LIVINGSTONE DERBY

Freshman year always reminds me of the first day of a race, with all of the eager, vigorous freshmen beginning their four-year trial, their race for knowledge and for social recognition.

Our race began in September, 1949, when one hundred and forty-one neophytes assembled at the big track, Livingstone College. Some were proud and pranced about, while others were shy, frightened and embarrassed by the host of spectators. Many were not ready to break the strong home tie or to leave the parental stable. They could scarcely stand on their wobbly legs, and we paused to wonder how they would survive.

One of the first trainers with whom we came in contact was Mrs. Anne Swanson Drew, our advisor, who strove to encourage us. We trotted along slowly, displaying our first talent at the annual Freshman Talent Show. The first prize was given us for showing on "Illumination Night." Our reward was a huge picnic, where for a brief period, we forgot our academic aims in a gay pursuit for entertainment.

Our Sophomore year began the next lap in the race with only one hundred and eight competing. We changed trainers this year, and Mrs. Florence Mitchell and Mr. Leon McCrary did their share in molding and guiding us. This year found us a little more advanced. Certain comrades sprang ahead showing great potentialities, and leadership ability. Maryjane Williams, a rolly polly, little filly was class president. Hattie Savage, Tina Jones, Beatrice Frye, Mary Miller gained recognition in basketball. Elwood Massey, Neville Tucker, Eugene Hobson, Richard and Charles Sherrill carried us to fame in boys basketball, while Arthur Pemberton, Maurice Marsh, Richard Harris and Carl Harris carried the pig skin over the goal post. Stopping again for a bit of social life we gave our "Backward Dance" in Trent Gymnasium.

In all races there are those who drop along the wayside. By this time we had lost James White, Floyd Gardner, Sylvester Taylor, Richard Dailey, Horatio Strother, Reginald Bowley, Frazier Foster, John Hill, Eugene Hobson, and Etta Colquiett.

The third lap — Williams was no longer leading, but a fine stallion Rudolph Oglesby had stepped up. Mr. J. H. Brockett, our trainer for this year worked hard and devoted many hours to improving us. We were at a fast gallop! How the grandstand cheered when we made the largest class contribution to Founder's Day in the history of the school! How proud we were when our Homecoming Float gained first prize.

One very attractive filly, Katrina Lee, reigned as Miss Homecoming while another Constance Slade, was her attendant.

In all races there are favorites, real troupers who have captured the grandstand. In our race Jacqueline Findley, Elizabeth Spencer, Rutha Dixson, Lula Rhodes, Rudolph Oglesby, Maurice Marsh, Mary White, Maryjane Williams, Maxine Ormond, Irene Ballard and Minnie Mitchell forged ahead to capture honors anew.

Our recreation this time was a "Beale Street Dance" and most unique and fabulous of all, the "Tropical Paradise," our Junior-Senior Prom.

The last-lap seniors. My how we have thinned out! Rudolph Oglesby is still leading with Mr. Brockett standing close by—coaching—cheering. Maxine Ormond, Joelene Pryor and Minnie Mitchell received a "blue ribbon" for top scholastic awards.

We have taken this last lap with a determination to do our best. We realize more than ever, that loved ones, parents and friends are "betting on us," they have put us in this race. They have sacrificed. We are beginning to appreciate our trainers and jockeys (the faculty) who have urged us on by whispering words of encouragement and who have been by our side throughout the race. We stand on firm strong legs, lift our heads and call out, "We're almost through; see we've done it." We eagerly look forward to the final reward, our "Blue Ribbon" and Derby Day, June 2, 1953.

The Last Will and Testament

We, the Class of '53 of Livingstone College, in the city of Salisbury, state of North Carolina, being of sound mind and memory, and about to pass from this institution of learning, do make, publish and declare this to be our last will and testament.

ITEM I—

To our President, best wishes for success in the coming years; for betterment, progress and prosperity to our alma mater.

ITEM II—

To the faculty, our appreciation for the helpful guidance they have given us.

ITEM III—

To our dearly beloved school, we leave our loyalty and ardent affection.

ITEM IV—

To the Juniors, we bequeath our richest treasures . . . dignity, sincerity, and a deep sense of the responsibilities that will confront them as seniors.

ITEM V—

To the Sophomores, we leave new fields to explore and our prayer that they may have the courage and faith to venture out into them.

ITEM VI—

To the Freshmen, our heartiest congratulations for having withstood the first year of self-discovery.

ITEM VII—

The following valuable personal bequests are freely given to be kept in their treasury of memories:

I, Joelene Pryor, will my interest in all activities to Lavilla Mushatt and my mild temperament to Annie Belle Adams.

I, Mary E. Miller, will my love for athletics to Thema Rice.

I, William Graves, bequeath to Samuel Combs the ability to create and maintain true friendships.

I, Katrina Lee, leave to Sandra Cross the art of graceful carriage.

I, Reba T. Thomason, will my interest in people to Marie Horton so that she may understand and get along with them.

I, William Allen, bequeath to Frank Miller my initiative used to aid me in the comprehension of the Natural Sciences.

I, Beatrice Frye, will my athletic ability to Mary Martin and my pleasing personality to Carol Dunston.

I, Johnny White, will my melodious voice to Robert Sturghill.

I, Lutisha Higgins, leave to Althea Brooks my quietness and my lady-like dignity and genteelness.

I, Ella Hargett, will to Pauline Drakeford my tact and lack of curiosity for the personal affairs of others.

I, Alice Baldwin, will to Georgia Boswell my taste for playing classical music.

I, Maurice Marsh, leave to Rev. Patterson my height so that in his pulpit he may stand far above the common man.

I, Helena Fireall, bequeath to Annie Belle Adams my poise and dignity.

I, Marion Nettles, make a legacy which gives to Chloe Lee, Lucille Lee and Janie Owens my devoted friendship always.

I, Betty Rouse, leave to my sister, Janet Rouse, the ability to keep a secret and to hold conversation in a soft, feminine tone.

I, Jacquelyn Findley, hereby will to Anita Jenkins my chapel piano seat, and to Marion Briley my lust for adventure.

I, Maryjane Williams, bequeath my love for the dramatic to Gloria Lucas.

I, Willie Clifton, leave my blue, faithful '41 Dodge to Herbert Kirk so that he may never be late for classes again.

I, Irene Ballard, will my anxiety to speak Spanish to Peggy Carelock.

I, Maxine Ormond, leave to Thomasina Sanders my stenographic ability and my height to Adelaide White.

I, J. Arthur Pemberton, hereby bequeath to Ira Harris and Lee Archie Brooks my love and ability to play football.

I, Mary White, leave to Morris D. Williams the ability to read the classical books in their entirety with speed and comprehension.

I, Constance Slade, draw up a legacy leaving to Oral Simelton my decisive mind which should help her choose a major before her Senior year.

I, Betty Hart, leave to Charles Gibbs my winged fingers which will allow him to type with speed and accuracy.

I, George Hill, bequeath to Marshall Strickland the method of acquiring deep friendships with the opposite sex; to my brother, Joe, the ability to get Chemistry; and to Darnell McCauley, the Fraternity.

I, Shirley Broyles, will to Mary Turner and Patsy Welch my accomplishment of knowing what, when and where to speak certain things — and to anyone who wants the job — advertising manager for the yearbook.

I, Eula Mae Shaw, will to Allie Florence Dimery and Carline Lacy, Goler Hall, and hope they will enjoy it as much as I have during the past years.

Class Prophecy

It is late one afternoon 1 A.A. (Atomic Age).

Tina Jones and Beatrice Frye, finished with their duties in the Physical Education Center at Livingstone, are relaxing in the English room and talking with those learned English professors, Ruth Gray, Ella Hargett, Martha Person, Johnnie White, Elizabeth Spencer and Gladys Hunter, that distinguished history teacher, Katie Foy, and those noted shorthand teachers, Rutha Dixson, Minnie Mitchell and Hattie Savage. "Ooh, I can't stand these kids a minute longer," murmurs Tina, "If I don't get away from them for a little while I think I'll go berserk." "I feel exactly the same way," Bea replies. "I'll tell you what we could do, let's take my private helicopter and go around the country visiting all our old classmates."

It only takes a minute to tell the president, Richard Harris, of their decision, and then they climb into the luxurious plane, push a button and are on their way.

They decide to head for San Francisco and enter "Allen's Restaurant" owned by William Allen. Its roof is crowded with airplanes and it takes all of "Bea's" skill to land. The lines of people outside contain many familiar faces, among whom are those of Ruth Murray, and Jessie Bouleware, noted laboratory technicians. Willie Clifton, a successful teacher, brings up the rear as usual.

After sitting around and eating delicious food, "Bea" and Tina decide to leave in order to get a room for the night.

On the way they stop in George Hill's drugstore for a cup of coffee and buy the Atomic Herald. They see that the newspaper is edited by those famous journalists, Mary White and Maxine Ormond. After putting their airplane in a hangar at the airport, they register at the "Washington Hotel," and have no difficulty getting a room because they know the owner, Willie J. Washington.

The hotel beds in their beautiful, ultra-modern rooms are so soft that they cannot fall asleep, so they switch on television in the room and recognize the face of Perry Leazer, the only disc jockey in the world who uses "Feet-o-matic" record changers. After the television program goes off, Tina picks up the Atomic Herald.

This is what she reads, Neville M. Tucker Recently Admitted to National Bar Association.

Unusual Operation Performed by Distinguished Physicians, Elwood Massey, Richard Sherrill and Arthur Pemberton, on a Well-Known Minister, Frank Jones. Contrary to their usual custom and murmuring something about "Livingstone College" the great doctors operated on Rev. Jones for free. Assisting in the operation was Helena Fireall, R.N. These are the details of the case as reported by Betty Hart and Mary E. Miller, their medical secretaries.

Prominent Young Social Worker, Constance Slade, Publishes Book on Juvenile Delinquency in Connection with Crime in Collaboration with Ersell McKinney and Elsie Hatch.

New Mysterious Element Discovered at Holure-Nose Laboratories. Shirley Broyles, Felecia White and Joelene Pryor, famous chemists have discovered new mysterious element, estimated to be far more powerful than the atom. They named it "L-C" for the present.

Strange Geniuses Psychoanalyzed by Famous Psychiatrist. Mary Davis, still suffering from a strange malady known as "talkites" was successfully psychoanalyzed by Jacqueline Findley.

Article "How to Laugh in A Dentist's Chair" Receives High Praise. Doctors E. Rudolph Oglesby and Maurice Marsh have again collaborated successfully on another chapter in their proposed book, Painless Abstractions.

North Carolina Teachers Association Holds Annual Meeting. Elementary school teachers, Almeta Palmer, Isabelle Shaw, Lutisha Higgins. Myrtle Beatty, Eula Mae Shaw, Doris Peaks, and Marian Nettles were present at the annual meeting of the N.C.T.A. held in Raleigh, North Carolina, last week.

Y.W.C.A. Holds Annual Convention in Philadelphia, Pa. The main speaker at the Y.W.C.A. Convention was Miss Irene Ballard, Instructor of Spanish at the University of Mexico.

The next day refreshed after their delightful sleep, "Bea" and Tina go to the Metropolitan Drama Guild to see "Love Those Men" with Maryjane Williams as leading lady.

After the play they go to the airport where they meet Lula Rhodes, statistician, and Alton Hunnicutt, young clergyman.

Climbing into their plane, "Bea" and Tina push a button, and with a great roar it rises from the ground and zooms into space.

And the last we heard, "Bea" and Tina were still traveling.

Bears Win 14-7 Homecoming Tilt

Salisbury, N. C.—The Livingstone Bears, inspired by the brilliant running of "Chuck" Gibbs, soundly thrashed the Vorhees Tigers Saturday afternoon, November 8, as a huge Homecoming crowd saw them come from behind to win 14-7

Broncs Drop Bears In Hard Contest

Fayetteville, N. C.—The Fayetteville State Broncos, with All-Conference End "Snake" Williams leading the way, defeated the Livingstone College Bears 18-0, Saturday afternoon, October 25, as a large Homecoming crowd witnessed a thrilling game down to the last whistle.

Livingstone Host To E.I.A.C. Meet

Livingstone College played host to the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, December 5-6, 1952.

Charles Arthur Pemberton, stellar guard of the Livingstone College Bears, climaxed four years of collegiate football play by making the All-E. I. A. C. football team for the fourth time. Pemberton, a native of Salisbury, and a former Price High School star, is probably the only player in the history of the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference to make the all-star team four years running.

Victorious Ending

Salisbury, N. C.—The Livingstone Bears ended their season here Saturday afternoon, November 25, with a resounding 25-0 victory over a highly touted Morristown College eleven.

Bears Card Seven Games For '53
